- Jul 4 – 7: Museum Open for the Full 4th of July Weekend: By popular demand, the museum will extend its normal schedule to cover the full 4th of July weekend.

Jul 6 - 7: Living History Weekend - Thunder & Mud, A Preservation March: Meet living historians as they recreate part of the Army of Northern Virginia's retreat from Gettysburg to the Potomac River, resulting in the Battle of Monterey Pass! This weekend will be special and in two parts.

- Saturday, July 6th will feature a major event. Approximately 50 reenactors will march roughly eight miles of Gen Lee's retreat following the same Old Mariah Furnace Road used by Lee's wagon train, ending on the grounds of the Monterey Pass Battlefield Museum. They will marshal at the Fairfield PA Fire Department from 6:30 - 7:00am, and depart at 7:30am. Marchers will portray the 1st North Carolina Sharpshooter Battalion acting as rear guard to the Army of Northern Virginia's vulnerable supply train headed toward South Mountain and the safety of the Old Dominion. They will be issued food rations appropriate for the retreat from Gettysburg, and will use only equipment available during this period as documented from historical resources. Depending on a lot of factors, they expect to arrive at the Museum between 12 - 1pm. You can download maps of the original route and the reenactor's route which you'll find follows Iron Springs Road through to Gum Springs Road, and eventually to Old Maria Furnace Road.
(Note: If you go out along the route to see men marching in full Confederate uniforms with backpacks in the summer heat mixing with Saturday morning traffic, please use common sense. They will not need additional obstacles to overcome ;-)
- Saturday, July 6, 0900 - 1700, and Sunday, 7 Jul, 0900 - 1400: Complementing the march on the 6th, additional living historians will be available both days to offer interpretations of military camp life, medicine and local civilian life, and to answer questions. Saturday will also feature Infantry Demonstrations and Drills at 10:30am and 3:30pm. Sunday will add Military Camp Life Discussions with the 10th Mass.
- This event is supported by partnering organization Civil War Historical Impressions and co-coordinated by Ashley Sonntag-Bottomley and Timothy Smith of the Cedar Creek Battlefield near Middletown VA. For event questions and inquiries, please email AshleySonntag@gmail.com.
